"This photo was taken in Winneshiek County, on our farm near Decorah, Iowa. We raise mini "Therapy Goats". They are wonderful pets. Funny to watch jump around and play. They love to go for walks and getting treats. They are very entertaining and friendly. They love wild plums, apples, sunflower seeds, pumpkins, squash, tree leaves. When there is daylight left after my work day, I will take pictures and videos." -Cheryl

Mindful Moment

As the days get longer and the sun starts shining a little brighter, spring gives us a natural opportunity to reset. More daylight can boost your mood, fresh air can reduce stress, and even a short walk outside can help clear your mind. Try opening the windows, getting outside for 10–15 minutes a day, or starting a small spring project to create a sense of renewal.

If you or someone you love is struggling, remember you are not alone. You can call or text 988 anytime to connect with trained counselors who are there to listen and help connect you to different resources.
